Listen and learn to play at the same time:

“By the time you’ve completed the lesson, it’s time to just play!” Music notation is the complete notation of a melody or score. It’s a graphical representation of a piece of music which shows the performer all the musical structures that make up the song, such as the chords, the rhythm, and the melody. This knowledge is at your fingertips on the keyboard! You’ll find a set of templates for you to start from, and you can save your favorite templates to use later on. You'll also find a complete set of musical structures to learn, in conjunction with the templates. Of course, it's also possible to compose your own melodies, which is a great way to begin your musical journey. Powerful tools to create scores and songs: Record and edit music: Create and record music with your voice, your instrument, or a sound FX. Then add the music to your video. Or even add music to a video that's already been created. You can even change the pitch or add effects like sound FX to make it even more fun! Change the tempo: Change the tempo of the recording to make it a song for your game, your video, your movie, or your song! Record your own music: Create your own music with sound FX and your instrument. Export your score: Create a MIDI or WAV file from your score and export it to your computer, USB stick or SD card. Or use it in your video, like we just said! See how to use your music in your video. Learn and study your music:

You can go through your scores and songs to study the music. Play your scores and songs on a MIDI keyboard or your MIDI device and see how the notes correspond to the keys on your keyboard. Or use the built-in piano in your device to see how a real piano plays. Improve your skills with a score creator and more. Use notation to create your own melody or chords. Save your templates for future use. Use the built-in “show notes” to see what the notes are and what they represent.
