with this, I have a lcd tv mounted on the ceiling with the monitor facing towards the ceiling. the screen resolution on my tv is 1080x1920 and I get double amount of what I should be seeing. I had an earlier version of the software and it worked as expected but since I have upgraded to the latest version it has a problem. I have been living with this problem for a few weeks now and having a hard time finding the solution. Possible causes? I have a home server with ubuntu

12.04 and I have the lts of ubuntu 14.10 so maybe it is a problem with the upgrade to 14.10 but the information that I am seeing from other people about this problem and possible fixes are rather scarce. Any help would be greatly appreciated. Thanks in advance.

A: So I had a similar issue when trying to use a TFT display in the same room as my PC. I had a Dell P1430, but as I couldn't get the Linux drivers for the TFT to work, I installed Ubuntu instead. I did the same as you, I mounted the TV on the ceiling, but when I went to use it, I got a double image. What I found was that the Ubuntu live CD had the drivers, so I uninstalled my old Linux (Ubuntu 16.04) and installed Ubuntu 16.10 (which I think is still based on 16.04) with it's own live CD. When I booted the live CD, it had the driver and it did not present any problems. I don't know if you'll be able to get this to work, but I don't see why you wouldn't be able to. Since it's been more than a week since I have updated the blog, I figure I would have some updates on the games I have been playing. First, I am far from done with Dungeon's & Dragons: Five Dragons & One Wizard! I have played the game for roughly eight hours now and I am only about a quarter of the way through the adventure! That's a big achievement for me, I have no
