How can i access localhost:8080 directly? Is there any other way except creating a link to the folder domainname with Is there any security issue? A: There is no way to access it directly, Glassfish security is quite high. The best option is to link it to the root of the server through the Application Server Home page (typically under /usr/share/java). I don't have any experience with the server, but I imagine that there is not much of a security risk. Most important note: make a symlink named after the server in /var/lib/gfmodules/ so the changes do not get lost when you want to change your Glassfish version. The folder should be located at /etc/glassfish/modules/ Computer World, a national magazine, ranked U.S. colleges that have the best leadership programs in the country.
